Compliance Manager vs. NAVEX
Which Healthcare Compliance Platform Is Right for Your Organization?

Healthicity

At-a-Glance Difference

Compliance Manager
A healthcare-specific platform designed to manage the day-to-day work of compliance in one connected system. It supports incident tracking, policy management, training administration, risk assessments, and healthcare-specific oversight workflows aligned to how healthcare teams operate.

NAVEX
Geared more toward enterprise GRC and ethics management, with strong capabilities in hotline reporting, policy oversight, training, risk management, and board-level reporting.

Key Distinction

The main difference comes down to focus. Compliance Manager is designed for healthcare organizations that need practical, day-to-day compliance program management. NAVEX is built for broader, enterprise-wide governance across industries.
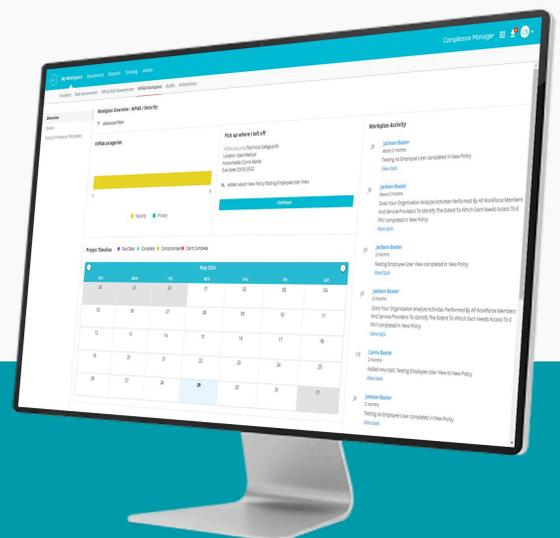

For healthcare teams seeking a more direct fit and a more streamlined experience, Compliance Manager is often the better choice.

Why Teams Choose Compliance Manager

What stands out about Compliance Manager is how well it supports the real work of healthcare compliance. Teams can manage incidents, policies, training, and assessments in one connected platform built specifically for healthcare rather than adapting a broad governance tool to healthcare-specific needs.

If your organization wants a compliance platform that is practical, healthcare-focused, and easier to implement, Compliance Manager is a strong alternative to NAVEX.
